Lord Douglas presents his Compliments to the Vicomte d'Itabayana, and in acknowledging the receipt of his Note of the 4th Instant, claiming for the Brazilian Consul General the right, founded on the 2d Article of the Treaty of Commerce between England and Brazil, of receiving goods destined for his own use duty free, is directed by the Earl of Aberdeen to express his regret to be obliged to repeat that the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury are of opinion that the indulgence granted to British Consuls in Brazil of receiving goods for their own

The Vicomte d'Itabayana

consumption

consumption, duty free, does not justify a departure from the established practice of this Country.

Foreign Office
January 10. 1829.